Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 71 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Edwin et al US Patent 6,623,519 B2.

Edwin et al discloses an elongated catheter, a thermal transfer device, the device comprises means for effecting local heat transfer with a stent, the device includes a thermal transfer surface, means for positioning the thermal transfer surface in local thermal transfer relationship with a stent and the device includes means for circulating a thermal transfer fluid through the chamber.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saab US Patent 5,902,268 in view of Edwin et al US Patent 6,623,519 B2.

Saab discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Saab does not disclose a stent that a thermal energy is transfer from a circulation means.

Art Unit: 3738

Edwin et al teaches a catheter having a thermal transfer device located in the distal portion of the catheter having a circulation system and a stent for the purpose of deploying, readjusting and/or removing a stent.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Saab reference with the catheter-stent system of the Edwin et al reference in order to deploy, readjust and/or remove a stent.

NOTE: In order to overcome the 102 and 103 rejections the applicant's representative should enter the following in claim 22, line 11 and claim 71, line 7: between the word "assembly" and "for" please insert the following in order to distinguish between the prior art and application: ---and proximal to the thermal transfer device---

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 3738

Claims 22, 24-26, 31, 33-35, 48-50, 65, 71 and 87 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-3, 8-13, 16, 17, and 22-25 of U.S. Patent No. 6,676,692 B2. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both cases disclose all the structure limitations claimed in the Applicant's claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 32 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
